

---

Thank-You P!NK

Posted by purpleheart - 2009/11/05 19:58

---

I would like to send a shout out to P!NK who brought my attention to this wonderful documentary. It is great to see someone influential standing for something and sharing her thoughts.

This film has helped me create a thesis for my final exam of the year.

:)

---

Re:Thank-You P!NK

Posted by Koshiro - 2009/11/05 20:09

---

Ah, interesting. How did than happen ?

Yay for the thesis. Might be good to check the correlation of 'masculination' of meat with men dying sooner than women :)

Actually, can you tell us more details about your thesis ?

---

Re:Thank-You P!NK

Posted by purpleheart - 2009/11/05 20:43

---

I recently went to one of her last concerts in Australia and I have been following her tour on twitter where she recommended that people watch this film.

My thesis is in the early stages of research, the main theme is the lack of knowledge and interest that generation Y has for the suffering of living things for their comfort and convenience.

If you know of any good resources I would like to have a look, other peoples perspectives are always welcome.

:)

---

Re:Thank-You P!NK

Posted by Koshiro - 2009/11/05 21:55

---

Simply wonderful. Most celebrities don't really care about this problem or merely jump on the 'bandwagon'. So this is great. I support her.

Yes, lack of knowledge, perhaps even emotional numbness which you could trace back to different cultures.

The China Study is a big great book on nutrition. Most parts of it are on Google books I think, so it shouldn't be too hard to check it.

And welcome to the board Purpleheart. You'll soon get to know other members like Desert Girl, Liberación Igualdad and Mike. Feel free to 'update' any of the threads you might be interested in. :)

---

Re:Thank-You P!NK

Posted by susanbennett - 2009/11/09 15:44

---

Hi Purpleheart

I'll listen more closely to P!NK in future.

I'm reading 'from dusk 'til dawn' by Keith Mann at the moment. It's an insiders view of the growth of the animal liberation movement. It's long but very readable.

---

Good luck with the thesis.

=====

Re:Thank-You P!NK

Posted by asmi18 - 2010/04/29 02:23

---

can u tell us about more thesis...very good luck wid the thesis...

=====